Will you handle my system requirements?

Author:
AWBS

Created On: Oct 19 2006 12:42 AM

No, server administration is not within the scope of our support personnel.
We have a cpanel knowledgable server administrator on our staff, upon request we can setup your system requirements for a fee, which will be quoted as per the situation/needs.
All other server types, please consult with your server admin, your server datacenter support services, or your hosting control panel support services to get your server ready to install AWBS.